

A Minute With Mitzi

A VERY SPECIAL BANK ACCOUNT

Imagine you had a bank account that deposited $86,400 each morning. The account carries over no balance from day to day, allows you to keep no cash balance, and every evening cancels whatever part of the amount you failed to use during the day. What would you do? Draw out every dollar each day!!

We all have such a bank. Its name is Time. Every morning, it credits you with 86,400 seconds. Every night it writes off, as lost, whatever time you have failed to use wisely. It carries over no balance from day to day. It allows no overdraft so you cannot borrow against yourself or use more time than you have. Each day, the account starts fresh. Each night, it destroys any unused time. If you fail to use the day's deposits, it is your loss and you cannot appeal to get it back.

There is never any borrowing time. You cannot take a loan out on your time or against someone else's.

The time you have is the time you have and that is that. Time management is yours to decide how you spend the time, just as with money you decide how you spend your money. It is never the case of us not having enough time to do things, but the case of whether we want to do them and where they fall in our priorities.

What is your plan for the time you have each and every day? Will you and I use it wisely or waste it away foolishly? Take some "time" and think it over.
