- The fall and spring equinoxes are the only two times during the year when the sun rises due east and sets due west.
- Spring almost always arrives on March 20 or 21, but sometimes on the 19th. The reason the equinoxes and solstices don't always come on the same day is that Earth doesn't circle the sun in exactly 365 days.
- Holidays that occur in spring include Easter, Passover, April Fool's Day, Earth Day, Arbor Day, Mother's Day, Father's Day, Cinco De Mayo, and Holi (festival of colors in India).
- Easter always falls on the first Sunday after the first full moon after the spring equinox.
- While the spring equinox typically occurs on March 20 or 21, meteorological spring begins on March 1, a month when average temperatures increase by 10 degrees over the month.
- In China, the coming of spring coincides with celebrations for the Chinese New Year. The holiday falls on the first day of the first lunar month, in January or February. Groundhog day has its roots in an ancient seasonal festival.
- For the Japanese, the opening of the cherry blossom, Japan's national flower, in March or April signals the start of spring.
- Children actually grow faster in the spring than during other times of the year.
- Tornadoes are most common in the spring and least common in winter.
- Every year on the first day of spring, people in Poland gather to burn an effigy and throw it in the river to bid winter farewell.
